1. Start your essay prep by writing often now, so you can reap the benefits later.
2. Research majors and careers aligned with your interests and passions.
3. Talk to your counselor or teachers about AP testing to see if you're ready to take AP classes or Dual Enrollment classes.
4. Study more than you think you need to. Work hard for your GPA.
5. Make a record of your achievements, honors, awards, activities, volunteer work, leadership experiences and other special recognitions you've earned.
